Milwaukee, August 27.

Third Ward Republican Meeting.

THE REPUBLICANS of the Third Ward will meet at the Louisiana House, on Saturday evening, the 28th inst., at 7½ o'clock, for the purpose of electing two Delegates to the Congressional Convention to be held at Racine, on Tuesday, the 31st inst.

H. MIDDLETON,
H. FREEMAN,
Ward Committee.

The News.

We have late and important news from Europe by the Atlantic Telegraph. A treaty of peace has been concluded with China, which ends the difficulties between this country and England and France, in the most satisfactory manner to the allied powers.

Accounts from Bombay represent that the mutiny was being rapidly quelled.

The telegraph wires east of Chicago were out of order last night, so that we are minus our evening report.

The New York breadstuff' market continues to decline. In our own market yesterday, with largely increased receipts, the market was inactive, and buyers very scarce, and we may say that prices of wheat declined full 5c, exhibiting a drooping tendency at the close.

The weather was not the most agreeable, a drizz'y rain falling nearly all day, and appearances seemed to indicate more of the same sort.

Good News for Milwaukee.

We rejoice to learn that the Detroit and Milwaukee Railway will be completed and opened for business, through to Grand Haven, on Lake Michigan, by the sixth of next month. Instead of the Forester, two staunch boats will be put on the line immediately, to run in connection with the Railroad, on either side of the lake. We cannot doubt that the simultaneous opening of this new route, and the completion of the La Crosse & Milwaukee R. R. to the Mississippi, must add vastly to the tide of travel, flowing through our city, and give a new impulse to all branches of business.

First Fruits of the Cable.

The Atlantic Telegraph Cable brought us quite an interesting batch of foreign news, yesterday. But that the land lines were not open at the time, we should have received the intelligence in ample time for the Sentinel of Thursday morning. After the 1st of September, we shall expect to give our readers daily despatches from the Old World, as well as all the latest intelligence from every part of the New. Now is the time to subscribe for the Daily Sentinel.

Another Voice from the Rural Districts.

The following extracts from an able article in the Watertown Democrat of yesterday, serve to show the current of public opinion in the State at large, and may help to satisfy the News and Wisconsin that their outcry against the Governor has failed to injure him, though it has been hurtful to the best interests of Milwaukee:

Is it Best to do It?

We observe with regret a strong disposition on the part of the Milwaukee News to make the action of the Governor in refusing his certificate to the La Crosse Company a party issue. In all candor, we ask if this is a wise policy—if a more suicidal step could be taken? For ourselves, we thus early and earnestly protest against such an embarrassing and fatal course, and predict that its adoption will bring nothing but defeat and disaster. In the Democracy of Wisconsin in a position to assume the quarrel of Railroads with the Executive and make their conduct and demands—no matter how profligate or outrageous—a part of its creed and faith? We say no.

This is not in any sense a political question, and nothing but the most reckless folly will seek to make it one. In this city, where there is a large Democratic majority, there is but one sentiment on this subject, and that is that the Governor has done the State valuable service by his prudence and firmness. In this respect our citizens agree with the overwhelming mass of the people.

A "Debauched and Demoralized" Press.—The Wisconsin of yesterday, in its zeal to bear "false witness against a neighbor," says that the Sentinel "considers a forged document, a justifiable partisan trick." This is a fabrication unworthy even of the "Family newspaper." The same "debauched and demoralized press" accuses the Sentinel of contemplated "treachery to the Republican candidate," Mr. Potter. The accusation was no doubt designed to injure Mr. Potter, but its source, happily, renders it harmless.

Popular Sovereignty.—The Rochester Union a prominent Democratic paper, speaking of the abandonment of popular sovereignty by its party, says mournfully:

"There is probably no other instance in our whole history of the abandonment of a great issue by the victorious party, a few months after a Presidential election which had been so fiercely contested upon that very issue. If there is a parallel to this, it has escaped our observation."

Telegraphic Jokes.—A correspondent of the New York Times says there is a rumor that there was a postcript in the communication of Victoria to our President, which was omitted in the publication. It is as follows:

"You will oblige me by expressing yourself cautiously in replying to my telegram, as I wish to avoid giving Albert any jealous or unpleasant feelings, which would, you know, very naturally be created by my sparking with a bachelor."

President's Reply.—"The Western World readily adapts itself to European examples, and particularly to such as are furnished by persons of exalted birth and station. I hope yours will be imitated by others of your sex, although your communication, owing perhaps to its novelty, was the most shocking I ever received.

Gov. Randall's Letter.—On our first page will be found the letter of Gov. Randall, relating to the Land Grant; to which we alluded in our last. We ask for it an attentive perusal, believing that every unprejudiced mind will see in it a full justification of the Governor in withholding his assent to bestowing upon the La Crosse Company the lands donated by Congress to this State to aid in the construction of particular Roads, while that Company fails to comply with its part of the contract. We believe that no disinterested parties can view it in any other light.—Mineral Pt. Tribune.

The Race Yesterday.—A very exciting and spirited race came off yesterday afternoon at the Garden City Track, for a purse and stake of $400, best three in five in harness, between General Utley, of Racine Wis., Prince of St. Paul, Minn., and Dick Turpin of Chicago.

The purse was taken by the Racine horse, he winning the first, second and fourth heats, and Dick Turpin the third.—Chicago Journal, 25th.

Departure of the Hermann for California.

The steamship Hermann is announced to sail for California and Fraser River direct, from Pier No. 36 North River, at 4 o'clock P. M., to-day. Her detention was unavoidable, on account of unfinished carpenter's work in making the alterations which have been necessary in fitting her for the present voyage. She will carry more passengers direct to the Pacific than any other merchant vessel that has ever doubled Cape Horn. The Hermann, however, will go through the Straits of Magellan. She goes literally full of passengers, and what with her large supply of coal, the largest stock of provisions ever put on board of any steamer at this port before, and the baggage of her passengers, she is deeply loaded, drawing about 22½ feet of water. There are the following number of berths for passengers:

|---|---|
| Steerage | 100 |
| Steerage—main deck | 60 |
| Second Cabin—in 18 state rooms | 120 |
| Main Saloon—in 21 state rooms | 42 |
| Lower Saloon—in 11 state rooms | 66 |
| Total | 736 |

The accommodations for 1st and 2nd cabin passengers are excellent, the main saloon being very roomy and well ventilated. The state rooms off this saloon nearly all communicate with each other, which, by opening the doors, affords opportunity during the day for the free circulation of air fore and aft. There are only two berths in each of these rooms. The state rooms in the second or lower cabin are larger, but have from two to four berths in each. A double line of sung state-rooms has also been built upon the upper deck, with two berths in each, where rooms for the accommodations of the officers, the Purser and the Surgeon, are provided. The state rooms forward, on the middle deck, have been removed, and every square foot of space is now occupied by temporary berths for steerage passengers, which are rather too compact for health or comfort. The same is true of the berths on the main deck, very little space being allowed for the entrance and egress of the passengers. Without a right attention to ventilation and cleanliness it will be next to impossible for so large a number of persons to avoid sickness in passing twice through the tropics in this confined place.

Captain Cavendy was long command r of the Hermann, when she was in the Bremen line, is estimated a thorough seaman, a superior navigator, and is withal, considerate and attentive to his passengers. The chief officer is Captain Patterson, formerly connected with the Collins line of steamers, and the second officer, Joseph Russell, was employed in the old Bremen line. The third mate, Joseph Cavendy, is a relative of the Captain, and a good seaman. Mr. Wood, the steward, has had much experience in the same capacity on board the Collins steamers. Mr. Mixon, the former engineer of the Hermann, also goes out in her, with an able corps of assistants. She carries about 120 men all told.—The time allowed for the passage to San Francisco, including the stoppages at Rio and Valparaiso, is about 70 days. The Washington, it is said, will follow the Hermann, in about a month. The fare charged is as follows:

To Rio Janeiro—First cabin, $150; second cabin, $100; third cabin, $75.

To Valparaiso—First cabin, $175; second cabin, $125.

To San Francisco—First cabin, $200; second cabin, $150; third cabin, $100.

To Fraser River—First cabin, $225; second cabin, $175; third cabin, $125.

Each passenger is allowed ten cubic feet for baggage, to weigh within 250 pounds. Surplus charged according to rates for freight.—New York Times, Aug. 28.

Twelve O'Clock at New York.—Appleton's Railway and Steam Navigation Guide, of June, has on page 27, a "Time Indicator," which shows the difference of time between various cities in the United States. When it is twelve o'clock in New York, it is—

A Bold, but Beautiful Figure.—During the delivery of a sermon last Sunday, in St. Patrick's Catholic Church in this city, the eyes of a congregation were suddenly riveted upon the speaker, Rev. Francis X. Boyle, by what, for the moment, seemed to be a digression to the all absorbing topic of conversation and conjecture throughout the civilized world—the Atlantic telegraph. The eloquent divine spoke in terms of glowing panegyric of this wonderful triumph of human science, and dilated upon the revolutions which the grand achievement will accomplish in the commercial, political, and social condition of the two hemispheres thus successfully united by means of the electric wire.—What is it after all, exclaimed the speaker, when compared with the instantaneous communication between the throne of Divine Grace and the heart of man? Offer up your silent petitions for grace. It is transmitted through realms of unmeasured space more rapidly than the lightning's flash, and the answer reaches the soul ere the prayer has died away on the sinner's lips. Yet, this telegraph, performing its saving functions ever since Christ died for us on Calvary, fills not the world with exultation and shouts of gladness—with illuminations and bonfires and the booming of cannon. The reason is, one is the telegraph of this world, and may produce wonderful revolutions on earth; the other is the sweet communion between Christ and the Christian's soul, and will secure a glorious immortality in Heaven.—Washington Union.

Fifteen Hundred Dollars for Whipping his Wife.—A man in good circumstances, living on the line of Pitt township, adjoining the city, attended the Atlantic Cable celebration on Thursday night, and took enough of the intoxicating cup to make him forget the "Golden Rule." He went home late and without any cause whatever whipped his wife (the mother of two lovely children) most unmercifully. Yesterday morning she bundled up her clothes, and was leaving her home to return to her parents.—When the repentant husband perceived the drift of her preparations, he began to make promises of better treatment in the future if she would only not leave him. She, however, persisted in her determination to go; and he, as an inducement for her to stay, offered to transfer to her the house and lot they occupied, worth some $1,900, which she accepted. There is a debt of $180 on the lot. Alderman Dait was engaged yesterday in making the transfer.—Pittsburgh Journal, 21st.

Tobacco Crop in Kentucky.—From reliable letters we glean the following information: In Boone, Kenton, Grant, and Gallatin counties, there will not be over a quarter of a crop. Breckenridge county—The growing crop is far short of last year; more so in size and quality than in the number of plants. Your correspondent has twenty acres planted, of which the yield will be 200 hhds. per acre lighter than last year. Henderson county—Weather awful. The crop promises to be about three fourths to seven-eighths of an average. Barren county—The crop looks badly. Farmers think there will not be more than half a crop this season. McLean county—The crop now growing will be lighter than last season, and it is feared the yield will not be more than two-thirds of last year; much of it is late, which an early frost will affect materially.—Louisville Review, 20.

Struck with Blight.—The potato crop in this vicinity. Along the New Scotland plank road almost every field is affected. The disease made its appearance on Tuesday of this week. On the Alms House farm it is making dreadful work. Hurst planted twenty acres. It was supposed on Monday that these twenty acres would yield 3000 bushels of potatoes. On Tuesday the rot appeared. On Wednesday night the vines were so nearly killed, that Mr. Hurst fears he will not be able to gather 500 bushels. This is to be regretted. The field planted by Mr. Hurst was considered the best in the county. About a week ago it was reduced almost to a certainty that the yield would be 150 bushels to the acre. It is now reduced to a certainty that the yield will not exceed 30 bushels.—Albany Knickerbocker

Cleveland, Aug. 26.

John Hutchins was nominated yesterday for Congress by the Republicans of the 20th District, vice Joshua R. Giddings.

The District Attorney.—District Attorney Mallory appeared in the Police Court yesterday and conducted the prosecution in the case of the State against Catharine Warnke, charged with keeping a house of ill-fame, contrary to the peace and against the statute, &c.

Before commencing the examination the District Attorney stated to the Court that he had carefully examined the act referred to by His Honor on the previous calling of the case, and that he failed to find any clause therein requiring him to prosecute the case, but rather than delay the matter he would conduct the examination.

Justice Walworth wished the District Attorney to understand that he did not call upon him or any other officer, to perform any of the duties of the Police Court. It was not for him to decide what were the duties of the District Attorney. He knew of no law in the Statutes, however, which would require a magistrate to sit and act in the double capacity of the Court and District Attorney, though he had sometimes done so in order that the ends of justice might not be defeated by the neglect of the proper officer.

The District Attorney believed that His Honor was calling upon him in this case to perform a duty which belonged to the Police Justice. The law does not require, argued Mr. Mallory, that an examining Court should be provided with a prosecuting attorney. He had consulted ex-District Attorney Upham, and learned that that gentleman had never considered it obligatory upon him to attend to Police Court examinations.

In reply to this, Justice Walworth had only, to say that during the eleven years which he had acted in the capacity of Police Magistrate, he never met with a District Attorney who refused to conduct the prosecution in all cases indictable before a Grand Jury, until December last, when objection was raised by the present Attorney. The District Attorney, His Honor believed, was the best judge of his own duty and could do as he pleased in the matter. Mr. Mallory went on with the examination without making any further objections.

We have not the statutes before us, but if we remember right, it is very plainly made the duty of the District Attorney to conduct examinations in all cases where offences are committed against the State. Certainly the law was so understood by all of Mr. Mallory's predecessors, and hitherto Mr. Mallory appears to have so interpreted the statute himself, for all similar prosecutions until quite recently were conducted by the present District Attorney. We have not, however, examined the matter with sufficient care to fully satisfy our own mind as to the right or wrong of the dispute, but presume that the District Attorney, from the fact of his having taken this case in hand, after an examination of the amendments of the statute, is satisfied that he was in error.

The "News" Local and the Police.—In the "local" columns of The News, yesterday, appears the following grave charge against our City Police:

"The "local" dares not say that he has an independent existence, unless some demagogue says that he is a fool, and don't know enough to expose the fraud, corruption, and meanness of Milwaukee police officers. It gives us pain to know that these men are of the most corrupt character, and that they are supported by persons who lay claim to great morality. It is due to the character of individuals, as well as the church, to repudiate the connection of these men with their congregation.

We do not belong to the "congregation," political, or otherwise, of our Milwaukee Police.—The great majority of them are "Democrats."—But it is nevertheless true that, as a body, they are honest and efficient, and that Chief Beck and his principal "detectives" are zealous, skillful and indefatigable, in the discharge of their arduous duties. Why the News should persist in attacking them, we cannot imagine.

Interesting to Tax Payers.—The city clerk gives notice that the Assessors and Board of Review will be in attendance at the Common Council chamber, on Saturday afternoon, for the purpose of hearing complaints against personal taxes; and also on Monday and Tuesday at the same place, from 9 to 12 o'clock, A. M., for the purpose of hearing complaints in special cases respecting any inequality, in assessment of the Wards.

Police Court Yesterday.—All North Water street, or, more properly speaking, all the residents of that locality, were congregated in the Police Court, yesterday, to witness the trial of Catharine Warnke, better known as "Old Mother Warnke," the nuisance of the neighborhood.—The defendant was charged with keeping a house of ill-fame, which the people of that part of ward were very desirous of getting rid of. The old lady is a hoary old sinner, being between 50 and 60 years of age, and having been convicted twice within a few weeks for the same offence, and fined each time, upon the last conviction, $100. She paid both the fines, having become quite wealthy, it is said, by her disreputable business, but still continued in her wicked course quite defiant of the law. As the law seemed inadequate to have any effect upon the old tormentor, the people resolved to take the case in their own hands, and see what they could do towards abolishing the vile institution from their midst.

Consequently on Sunday night the wife of a respectable citizen having been insulted by an inmate of mother Warnke's crib, the whole neighborhood turned out and would have dealt roughly with the old lady, and her associates, but for the interposition of the police, who took them to the Station House for safe keeping.

Yesterday morning Catharine Warnke, was brought before Judge Walworth, for her third examination. Any business under such circumstances, could not be expected, so his Honor decreed if the facts disclosed in the examination should prove sufficient to convict the defendant, to hold her to bail for indictment by the Grand Jury. Any number of witnesses were ready to testify as to the nature of the house kept by the defendant.

The whole day was occupied in examining witnesses, and the evidence given was sufficient to convict the defendant half a dozen times over.—There appeared to be a very strong feeling in the neighborhood against "Mother Warnke" as was manifested by the large attendance in Court during the examination, and the expressions of gratification which broke from the lookers on when they learned that the defendant would be committed. Some old fellows were quite rejoiced at the hopes of getting rid of the nuisance, because Mother Warnke's visitors had disturbed their nightly slumbers, but further than this they did not seem to care, while others did not at all approve of the old lady's morality. The counsel for the defendant worked hard for their client, but all to no purpose. After summing up the evidence, Judge Walworth said he felt called upon, under the circumstances, to present the case to the action of the Grand Jury, and the defendant would be required to give bail in $1,000 for her appearance, in default of which, she was committed to jail.

Bad Condition of Reed Street.—We would invite the immediate attention of the Street Commissioners to the bad condition of Reed Street, between the Menomonee Bridge and South Water Street more especially. The paving has sunk in many places, making the street extremely dangerous for the passage of loaded wagons. There is no public thoroughfare in the city over which a larger number of heavily loaded wagons pass, than the one in question. The great bulk of grain which comes in by the M. & M. and M. & W. Railroads, is carted over this street, and to leave it in its present condition, will cause the most serious hindrance to the business of that part of the city. Nearly all the warehouse owners have requested us to call the attention of the Street Commissioners to the necessity of immediately having this street repaired. It will not cost much to put it in good order if it be done at once, but if neglected until the wet weather comes on, the city will be put to three times the cost which would be required to do the work now. We trust that the Street Commissioners will not turn the deaf ear to this call.

An Outrage.—William Warnke a son of "Old Mother Warnke's," was arraigned in the police Court yesterday morning, upon the charge of insulting and committing violence upon the person of an unoffending female on Sunday night last, and upon conviction was fined $25 and costs. The testimony showed that the defendant made an unprovoked attack upon the woman who was peaceably going to her home.—Seizing her by the arm, it is believed that he intended to force her into the vile house kept by the ruffian's mother close by. The woman used all her exertions to release herself from the fellow's grasp, when he threatened to strike her with a pitcher which he held in one hand. Some of the neighbors hearing the noise, came to the woman's assistance, releasing her, and, at the same time, giving the rascal a sound drubbing. When the outrage became known, the people of the neighborhood resolved that the perpetrator and his associates should seek other quarters. Consequently a crowd went to "Old Mother Warnke's" house, and ransacked it from top to bottom, smashing the furniture, windows, and doors, and in fact leaving only the skeleton standing. Wm. Warnke and most of the other inmates, took care not to get into the hands of the infuriated people, but was in the mean time arrested by the police. It is not likely that he will venture to show his nose around there again.

The Swimming Match.—Quite a crowd of spectators gathered about the dam, Wednesday afternoon, to see the promised aquatic sports.—The first performance was a race for a mile, ten competitors; Mr. Bennett, book-keeper at Niedecken & Co's, winning the prize in handsome style, and making the distance in 27 minutes. Then came jousting between parties in small boats, in which a number of the combatants were knocked overboard, to the great amusement of the crowd of lookers on. Then a floating pavilion, with all sorts of refreshments upon it, was moored out in the stream and the swimmers, clustering round it, sat, drank and smoked, at their ease, in the water. Other exercises followed, and towards dark the crowd dispersed, well pleased with the entertainment.

Advertising.—The Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, noting the failing off in advertising which has accompanied the hard times, says:

"Discontinuing to advertise is like taking down one's sign. It is sort of intimation of retirement from business, and the public treat it as such. Or they may regard it as the case that something has gone wrong in the business which requires privacy for investigation. Whatever construction may be put upon it, the result is disastrous. Now, we advise all our readers who may have fallen into the common error of the season, to come out of their holes, to put up their signs once more, and to advertise in as many papers as they did in the best times.—While business creates advertising, it is equally true that advertising creates business. It creates a talk and a stir in business circles, and reminds people that they have no right to be leading drones' lives, even though the times be dull.—And even in the worst of times, advertising always pays well, and the more of it there is, the greater will be the circulation of money, and the sooner will be restored a condition of prosperity."

Public School Examinations.—An error of the types, yesterday, which was overlooked, made us say that the examination of candidates for admission to the Seventh Ward High School would take place on Monday next. The examination of Teachers takes place on that day, and the examination of High School candidates on the Wednesday following. Should the Second Ward High School be ready by the 10th, or 15th, of September—as is thought possible—the examination for admission into that school will take place on the first Monday in September.

Hook & Ladder Companies at State Fair.—The Madison Argus says that four or five hook and ladder companies in the State have expressed a wish to have a trial at the State Fair, in running a certain distance, to be agreed on, and placing a ladder against a building to be selected for the purpose, the company making the best time to be rewarded by a silver cup. We learn that steps are now being taken to get up a beautiful cup, and the tallest kind of running may be expected.

St. Aloysius Academy.—The next term of this educational institution, it will be seen by a notice in another column, commences on the 1st of September. The Academy is situated on Third street between Sycamore and Clybourn, Fourth Ward, and is under the direction of the members of the Society of Jesus. The course of studies comprises all the branches of a thorough classical and commercial education, and no pains are spared to procure the rapid advancement of scholars.

Valentia, August 26.

Later and highly important intelligence has been received from China. A treaty of peace has been concluded with China, by which England and France obtain all their demands, including the establishment of embassies at Pekin, and indemnification for the expenses of the war.

Later Indian news is at hand. The dates from Bombay are to July 10th.

The accounts represent that the mutiny was being rapidly quelled.

To day's London papers have a long and interesting report by Mr. Bright, the Atlantic Telegraph Co.'s engineer.

The steamship Asia, with the mails for Halifax and Boston, is to be despatched from Liverpool on Saturday next.

The screw steamship North American, with the Canadian mails, was to leave Liverpool today for Quebec and Montreal, and the U. S. steamship Fulton, for New York, was to be dispatched from Southampton today.

The above despatch was received at Trinity Bay, at about 9 o'clock last night, and would have been here in ample time for publication in this morning's papers, had the lines in Nova Scotia not closed at 9 o'clock. We understand that after the cable is opened for business, all the land lines will remain open night and day.

The Canvass in this District.

The News and Wisconsin, each of which is opposed, on different grounds and for personal reasons, to the nomination of Mr. JAMES S. BROWN for Congress, are busily at work, in their respective ways, to prejudice that gentleman in the eyes of the Democracy of the First District. One very shallow trick which both are employing in common, is to represent that the Sentinel "favors" Mr. BROWN. This suggestion, they shrewdly think, will alarm the most ultra and least intelligent of the Democratic party, and induce them to oppose Mr. BROWN. We doubt, however, whether this notable trick will serve the News or Wisconsin's turn. Certainly the Sentinel would be very glad to see our Democratic friends discarding the sort of candidates they have been in the habit of nominating heretofore, and selecting as their standard-bearer a gentleman of character and talent like Mr. JAMES S. BROWN; and to that extent we may always be set down as "favoring" his nomination, or that of any other capable and respectable man.

But "thus far and no farther" does the Sentinel "favor" Mr. BROWN. Were he, personally, ten times more worthy than he is, no Republican in this District could consistently, or conscientiously vote for him; and for the sufficient reason that his political principles are utterly hostile to those held by the Republican Party.—Mr. ELMORE, Judge ALLEN, Sheriff PAGE—in fact, almost every other candidate who has been talked of by the Democracy—approximates much more closely to the Republican standard than does Mr. JAMES S. BROWN. Mr. B. belongs to the old-fashioned, square-toed "Democracy," of the Jackson era, and if elected to Congress would prove himself a thorough-going party man, and be found supporting all party measures, without pausing to enquire how they might affect the interests, or square with the views, of the people of the North-west. If, morever, we are not mistaken, Mr. BROWN, though opposed to the Lecompton Villainy, at the time the News and the Administration "favored" it, now "acquiesces" in the English settlement and upholds the Dred Scott decision.

Surely, it this be so, no Republican in the District will give him his vote. But even if Mr BROWN's opinions on these two points are less objectionable than we suppose them to be, he can have no claim upon Republicans for support while our own candidate and present Representative, JOHN F. POTTER, occupies the field. Mr. POTTER has passed through a severe ordeal and come out pure gold. He has proved himself an able, faithful, fearless and industrious Representative. Every Elector in this District who has had occasion to write to him on business during the past session will bear us out in the assertion that Mr. POTTER has attended promptly, diligently and satisfactorily to their requests. And as to his votes, the records of the House show that he was always at his post and right every time. We do not believe that, with these facts fast in their recollections, the people of the First Congressional District will consent to exchange JOHN F. POTTER for any untried man who may be put up against him.

The Vice President in Illinois.

A Springfield paper announces that Administration meetings are to be held at Ottawa, Springfield and Monticello, on the 22nd, 25th and 28th, and that Vice President Breckinridge, Col. Carpenter and H. S. Fitch, are to be speakers.

We would advise the Vice President not to be present. He is a candidate for the succession, but he will stand a poor chance among the Democrats of the North, if he enters Illinois to make speeches against Douglas.—St. Louis News.

The announcement that the Vice President of the U. S. is to take the stump in Illinois, in behalf of the Administration and against Senator DOUGLAS, will strike the public at large with surprise, and the DOUGLAS Democracy with disgust. Mr. BRECKINRIDGE had much better remain quietly at home in Kentucky, than visit Illinois on such a mission. Indeed we suspect that the announcement of his intended presence and participation in the exciting campaign now in progress in Illinois, will turn out to have been unauthorized—a small trick of the BUCHANAN Democracy to draw full meetings.

A CREDIT MARK FOR MILWAUKEE BANKERS.—The Oshkosh Democrat, alluding to the recent war upon Wisconsin currency by the Chicago Bankers and the effectual step, taken by our Milwaukee Bankers, to "conquer a peace," says:

The prompt and wise action of the Milwaukee Bankers in this matter, will avoid any evil results, and be of great benefit to the State at large. We give Milwaukee a credit mark.

The News and its Forgeries.

The News does not like our brief reply to its coarse charge that the Madison Journal did the "lorging" and the Sentinel "the lying," for the Republicans, and thus rejoins:

"Facts are stubborn things." The Madison Journal is required to publish forgeries; but the Sentinel publishes them voluntarily. It has published two quite recently—the "K. postscript," and the President's letter to English, and we have no recollection of its having published the denial of the genuineness of the latter, although such denial has been made in the Washington Union. We have published no forgeries and told no lies."

Like most of its class, the News is troubled with a "short memory." The letters which it charges the Sentinel with publishing, were both copied by us from reputable exchange papers, and in each case the denial of their genuineness was likewise published in the Sentinel as soon as received.

The "forgeries" which the News published were original with that paper, and to this day stand unconfessed and unatoned for. They were three in number—all manufactured during the canvass last Fall, and for political effect. As the memory of the News seems so defective we will particularize. The "forgeries" in question, were the spurious letter of Mr. NOONAN to Col. JONES—manufactured and published by the News—the bogus telegraph despatch from Mayor CROSS, in New York, about a loan for our City—manufactured and published by the News—and the proceedings of the Temperance Meeting in the Fourth Ward—manufactured and published by the News. These were the products of a single election campaign, and all bore the stamp of the News mint.

CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION.—Our Republican friends will not forget to elect delegates, (two from each Assembly District,) to meet at the Congressional Convention in this city, on Tuesday, the 31st inst. Senator DOOLITTLE and Hon. John F. Potter, will address the people after the nomination is made. We would like to see Racine County represented well. Let the people rally, and a good time be enjoyed.—Racine Advocate Aug. 25.

The Republican Electors of this city will bear in mind that the meetings to choose Delegates to the Congressional Convention are to be held on Saturday evening next. We hope to see every Assembly District fully represented and to meet at Racine on Tuesday next, a good crowd of "live" Republicans, prepared to go into the Fall Campaign, determined to win.

THE STATE FAIR—ACCOMMODATIONS FOR EDITORS.—Mr. PUWERS, of the State Agricultural Society, intends to put up on the Fair grounds, during the continuance of the State Fair, a tent for the special accommodation of editors and reporters. It will be furnished with all necessary conveniences, and a message boy will be in attendance, to convey mail matter to and from the Madison Post Office. This is a sensible arrangement, as it will enable those editors who may be in attendance at the State Fair to give the absent public their impressions of all they see and hear, while these are yet fresh.

Assessments in the Town of Waukesha under the New Law.

Our Assessors have completed the assessment of this Town, and the same has been equalized. Through the kindness of George C. Pratt, Chairman of the Board of Equalization, we gather the following statistics:

The whole amount of property in the Town, under the

| | Present law, 1858. | Old law, 1857. |
|---|---|---|
| Personal property, | 259,214 | 42,676 |
| Real Property, | 1,319,942 | 320,228 |
| Total, | 1,575,942 | 362,104 |

Now, we are either getting rich mighty fast, or else this system of listing has a tendency to exhibit the actual wealth of our town, or assessments under the old law were very unequal and unjust. There is more than six times the personal property assessed in the town this year, than there was last, and the valuation of real estate is four times greater.

Look at this disproportion. Last year, the personal property of the town paid only one-seventh of our taxes. This year it pays upwards of one-fifth. This year our total valuation is more than four times greater than last year. Who says, that if actual valuation is increased four times, that the credit of the town is not correspondingly increased. What is true of a town, is true of a State.

That our taxes, under the present imperfect law for listing and valuing property, will be much more equitably adjusted, will be seen, than ever before. Yet, under the old law, a system of listing was permitted, but never practised—We apprehend that the good effects of listing will be apparent to every man. It is the true theory—and its application to any law of assessment, drawn with the least care, would insure the levying of a just and equitable tax, imperfect only as far as all general laws will prove, in a few isolated cases.—Waukesha Republican.

TERRIBLE CALAMITY.—Mr. Michael Cunningham, a very worthy and much respected farmer in the town of Rochester, in this county, met with a fatal injury on Saturday evening last, which resulted in his death Monday morning.—The evidence taken before the jury upon the inquest, proves the following facts: On Friday last, he left home with the view of visiting this city and Kenosha, where he had money due him. Saturday morning he went to Kenosha, transacted some business, and received a considerable sum of money. He took the afternoon train to return to Racine, and the supposition is he slept until the train passed the city, when discovering the fact, he rushed to the platform and jumped off. One of the witnesses testified he saw an object fall from the platform of the train, which was going unusually fast, and impressed with the idea that it was a person, he walked to the spot and found the deceased lying on the ground insensible. Very shortly others came up, among whom was Mr. John Cawley, who resides near there. They directly sent for medical aid, which was rendered by Dr. Tillapaugh, and Mr. Bunce, City Superintendent of the Poor, aided by Mr. Schneider, procured a conveyance and took the unfortunate man to the Racine House, where everything was done to restore him to consciousness.

His wife was speedily apprised of the fact and reached the city Sunday morning. All efforts to restore him to life were ineffectual. He never spoke or exhibited any evidence of sensibility from the time he was found. Some of the circumstances gave rise to a suspicion that foul play had been used; but after a full hearing of the testimony, there can be no doubt that the unfortunate man jumped off while the train was in motion, and received the injuries which have proved so fatal. The money upon him was taken from his person by some of those who first found him, and delivered to the officers afterwards. There is, however, quite a considerable sum missing, which in our opinion, was abstracted from his pocket-book during the first excitement consequent upon finding him in that condition. Mr. Cawley, a gentleman of respectability, and well known to our citizens, substantiated by his testimony, the facts as stated, and we have no doubt but the verdict rendered, regarding it as caused by his own act in jumping from the cars, is correct. He leaves a wife and five children to mourn his untimely end.—Racine Advocate Aug. 25.

THE LA CROSSE AND MILWAUKEE R. R.—We copy the three following "items" from the La Crosse Independent Republican of Aug. 25th:

Daylight went through the Tunnel yesterday; and now we may expect a train through it by the 20th of September. No mistake about it—by the 20th we shall expect a train of cars direct from Lake Michigan!

The first day of the through trains on the La Crosse road, last Monday, about 50 passengers came through. The trains made good time, and the employees are spoken of as gentlemanly and accommodating. The fare to Milwaukee is $6,00, or about three cents per mile.

The passengers over the La Crosse road make the connection for St. Paul with the Dunleith Packets, and are not detained here but a short time.

LIBERAL.—Ira Justin, Jr., chief engineer of the fire department, has presented a fine lantern, made expressly for the purpose, to each of the assistants in the department. He has also provided himself with one of the same kind.—No Departments ever had a better chief than Ira.—Janesville Gazette.

That is so—and few chiefs can boast of better Departments than "Ira."

☞ They are such a corrupt set of politicians in Wisconsin, that they can't tolerate honesty and uprightness in their State officers, when they accidentally elect honorable men to office. Gov. Randall, the present Governor, happens to be the first honest Executive they have had for many years, and the consequence is that all the papers and politicians are "pitching into" him, and abusing him most unmercifully.—Chicago Journal.

A Pedestrian Tour Across Wisconsin.

PART SECOND

LA CROSSE, Aug. 21st, 1858

DEAR MR. EDITOR:—Our next stopping place was Portage City, 95 miles from Milwaukee by railroad. There we remained three days. Some of our readers may not know that this place lies between the Wisconsin and Fox rivers, which are connected by a canal two miles long, running through the city. Both streams are navigable as far up as here, and as the Fox river runs into Lake Michigan, and the Wisconsin into the Mississippi, it makes Portage City a place of some commercial importance. The population is about 5,000.

Old Fort Winnebago, two miles north-east of the city, is not the interesting pile of ruins that some folks expect to find it. Some well-built frame houses, filled with the filthiest kind of people, is all that is left of what was twenty or thirty years ago an important military post, far out "in the vast howling wilderness." The old hospital, and officers' lodge, near by the rest, are in but little better condition. Shades of Harrison, Taylor, and Atkinson, Black Hawk, Tecumseh and Tippecanoe! "How are the mighty fallen, and the weapons of war perished!"

No soldiers have been stationed here since the Mexican war began, and the whole concern was purchased of the United States some years ago.

At Portage is another Young Ladies' Seminary; it differs from most others in the State by not favoring any religious persuasion in particular; it is in a flourishing condition. The only public work in course of construction there, that we saw, is the great stone lock on the canal.

The stranger in Portage cannot miss seeing the Baraboo bluffs, towering above the country, on the south-west. He can ride to their summit without going more than seven miles, and have the commanding view they afford of the Fox and Wisconsin rivers, on their winding way, for miles, the city and old fort, and the country for a great distance around: he will be well paid for his pains.

From the bluffs we set out for Baraboo, in Sauk county; but a heavy rain has made such bad work with the roads, which there lay through forests and marshes, that we changed our course for the La Crosse Railroad. That way the roads were so muddy, and so intricate, that after a while we lost patience with them, and aimed straight for the Railroad, regardless of the highways.

"We forded the river and climb the high hill," and crossed whatever lay in our way, till suddenly we came down upon the Wisconsin—we had forgotten it lay between us and the Railroad!—There was no bridge nearer than Portage City, and probably no boat nearer, except one on the very spot where we wanted it; its proprietor thought he "owed us not the kind service of the boat" for a less consideration than three dollars! It was almost dark, and he thought the only thing we could do would be to submit to his terms; but we showed him there was one thing more we could do; we reduced ourselves to the state of nature, fastened our little effects upon our backs over our shoulders, (here the price of ferriage had a downward tendency) and swam the river. It is over thirty rods wide there, and the current carried us twice that distance.

It was dark long before we reached the railroad; the first mile post indicated five miles from Kilbourn City; trifling as that distance would have been to me at any other time since I left Milwaukee, I was then too fatigued to perform it for the sake of a hot supper and a bed, for we had done twenty-five miles of the severest kind of traveling since dinner.

Then, for the only time during the whole journey, some doubts came into my mind as to there being so much romance about it after all; for that evening only, it assumed the aspect of a stern matter of fact; Fancy was overpowered by Experience,

"As lamps that shed at eve a cheerful ray,
Fade and expire beneath the eye of day."

We know there were none but small log houses in that part of the land, and none at all for a mile or two; as each had taken a shawl with him, in case we should have to camp out, we concluded to use them now. We found a good sized grassy mound, quarter of a mile from the track; on top of it we kindled our fires, to keep the wolves and mosquitos away, and ate voraciously of smoked beef and crackers.

Our camp fires gleamed through the forests far and near, from the brow of the hill, when we wrapt ourselves up in our shawls and stretched our lengths upon the cool earth. The fresh night breeze swept gently over the hill, to fan our faces and "steep our senses in forgetfulness," till we lay

"As fast lock'd up in sleep as guiltless labor,
When it lies starkly in the traveler's bones."

ALPHA C.

JOHN B. GOUGH AND EDWARD EVERETT.—We find the following sketch of the oratory of these two eminent personages in the last number of Harper's.

In our own country, John B. Gough, who is the most popular and effective speaker with the great mass of the people, is a person of ordinary mind, of small learning, not graceful in manner nor of musical voice; yet he collects crowds everywhere, who pay to hear upon the subject they have always heard him treat, and who hang upon every word with tears, and laughter and delight. He is an oratoric actor. He reels and staggers and falls—his smiles, sighs and grins—in delineation of his theme. Gough was engaged for fifty thousand dollars by the English Temperance Society, to work for them in England. The sum is a practical substantial statement of the value of his oratory.

On the other hand, Edward Everett is a person of large scholarship, of elegant and cultivated intellect and taste, of the highest refinement of association and manners; singularly timid, fastidious and cold, he is entirely undramatic.—He has studied grace of gesture, never vehement, too characteristically quivering, a musical voice carefully modulated, and a sublime propriety of demeanor. His discourses are carefully elaborated and and committed; the constitution of his mind, and his character, prevent his taking any side, or pressing a powerful conviction or view which might be distasteful to any hearer; he has consequently, neither the stimulus of opposition nor the glory of a victory and triumphant ascension. Yet he is called the greatest of our orators. He it is who fills the great buildings; and draws the admiring crowds. He is the very contrast of Gough; who, then, shall tell the secret of oratory?

THE FERRY STAIRCASE AT NIAGARA—THE ROPE BURNED AND CAR RUSHING DOWN.—Everybody who ever trusted himself to the sharp grade of the ferry staircase, as the rope unrolled itself on whose strands' strength his life hung, has exercised himself in calculating to what degree of destruction his physical nature would be crushed, if those fibers should separate. The experiment has recently had an unexpected trial, and the result is worthy of record for the comfort of the adventurous. In the month of March the Ferry House took fire, and in the conflagration the rope burned, and a car rushed the full length of the steep track, and went into the river, unbroken, almost without a fracture, instead of being shivered into fragments. The reason seemed this: the weight of the chain which is attached, and which serves to steady the draft, operated as a break, and the car was taken through its fearful journey by this regulator in safety. It is a trial which, in its pleasant result, will give an assurance of security that will calm the mind, while the body is relieved from the interminable stair journey.—Cor. Cour. and Enquirer.

FINE WHEAT.—While constant complaints reach us of the damage done to the common varieties of wheat by rust and blight, the reports from the fields of the Fife variety are invariably favorable. In the vicinity of the town of Merton, in this county, a large quantity of this wheat was put in, and the crop now being secured is very fine, and the yields large. This wheat is about two weeks later than our native varieties, and possibly the season may have favored it, though we are inclined to think most of the late common wheat suffered more from rust than early sown, at any rate it will be well for farmers to try this Fife wheat. It is said to be more hardy, and a much surer crop than the old varities. The farmers in Merton have shown their good sense this season, in making a change in the seed sown. Much inquiry is already made for this wheat for seed next year, and the farmers who have it for sale had better keep a good supply on hand to meet the demand.—Waukesha Republican.

From the Mark Lane Express, Aug. 9.

The Crops in Great Britain.

The rain on Tuesday night and Wednesday morning, having been very general, has checked the progress of harvest; but as it was followed by cold drying winds, it has been rather beneficial than otherwise, being rapidly absorbed by the soil. The new wheat brought to market has almost entirely consisted of Talavera quality, and the quantity exhibited has been too small to form a fair estimate of the probable yield. The bulk of the crop has yet to be gathered, and the weather must still decide the character of the markets; but the tendency this week has been, on the whole, rather downwards. Very conflicting accounts still obtain; but beyond a fair average can hardly be expected, either here or in America; while Europe generally seems below this expectation. It is well that the overplus of the last crop will be available to fill up any void. Potatoes have kept improving, though in some localities there are complaints that the drought has made the tubers smaller than usual. Beans and peas seem bad everywhere, barley and oats being short. The rain has fallen to late too get many second cuts of grass, but it will be very serviceable for feeding off. Foreign markets, like our own, have experienced some fluctuations, leaving but a small difference from last reports. Still, as many are above our own rates, holders here seem little disposed to accept lower prices, especially as, even with fine weather, there is a prospect that all sooner or later will be wanted and there is no abundance of Indian corn to fall back upon as a substitute in case of need.

A Daring Exploit with a Bear.

At Woodland, Ulster county, N. Y., on Sunday, as two brothers, John and Mat. Schoonmaker, were strolling up the Muddy Bush Kill, with no weapon but their pocket knives, and no companions but their two dogs—one a fox hound, the other a water spaniel—they stopped awhile to fish; but they had caught only a few speckles when they were startled to hear the hound utter the well-known cry of his species upon scenting game.

One of the men immediately put chase after the dog, and on reaching the spot on the bank of the stream where the dog first found the trail, was not a little surprised to discover the footprints of a large bear on a hemlock log, where he had landed from his morning bath.

The bear had retreated some twenty rods from the stream to a cover, and there the dog came upon it.

It was but the work of a moment to acquaint the other man of the state of the case, whereupon, giving his fishing pole a toss into the stream, he ran up with the other dog.

Then a regular rough and tumble fight ensued, during which, part of the time the bear had the upper hand, and part, the men and dogs; but in a lucky moment the spaniel got the bear fast by the hind leg, and then as he turned over to give him—the dog—his quietus, the hound seized the opportunity and the bear, too, by the the under jaw, and so the two pinned him to the ground, when John thrust a heavy stake into his mouth, and placing his knee on the bear's head, proceeded with but a sorry specimen of a jack knife, to perform the operation of tracheotomy upon Bruin's throat and killed him.

They swung him across a pole and carried him between them to the nearest settlement, Snyder's tannery, two miles distant.

It proved to be a genuine black bear, one of the red nosed and most savage kind, and weighed when dressed, some three hundred pounds.—N. Y. Evening Post.

The first game, played on Monday, the 19th ult.—(Philidorian defence) was drawn; second; Tuesday, the 20th (gambit declined); third, Thursday, the 22d (Petroff declined); fourth, Friday, the 23d (gambit declined); sixth, Tuesday, the 27th (Sicilian opening); and seventh, Thursday, the 29th (Petroff defence), were won by Mr. Morphy. The fifth, Monday, the 26th (Petroff defence,) was won by Herr Loewenthal.

A STORY OF PROMOTION.—Among other historical obscurities with which Paris is filled at this moment may be quoted Herr Baron C——, who enrolled and ennobled by the King of Prussia, rose from the humblest origin to a position of high consideration in the world. While the present Prince of Prussia, then an infant of some three years of age was staying at the Palace of Babelsburg, by some negligence of the nurse he was left alone for a few minutes in an apartment on the third floor. When, with the marvelous instinct of mischief peculiar to children of that age, the little prince took immediate advantage of the absence of the nurse to accomplish a feat, of which he had doubtless been for a long time ambitious, and which consisted in an agreeable walk outside of the window, upon the narrow ledge of the coping stone, whence he could conveniently climb up the back of the lion rampant, which supports the establature of the fortiepiece that adorns the building. A poor blacksmith's workman was had been seat for to execute some repairs in the Palace, was just coming up the garden, and beheld with horror, the situation of the child. With true presence of mind, he hastened gently to the spot beneath the window following every movement of the urchin with the keenest anxiety, and extending wide his leather apron as he gazed upwards to watch the first symptom of giddiness which should occur to the bold little adventurer. As the child drew nearer to the hon, the ledge no longer affording such firm footing, and presently with a loud cry, he pitched over from that terrific height, right into—the leathern apron of the blacksmith, which sustained the shock without falling, and in another moment the little prince was restored safe and well to his Royal parents, who, in token of their gratitude, took immediate charge of the fortune of the brave young workman, and bestowed upon him a handsome pension, with the title of baron, to both of which he has done honor during a well-spent and useful life.

NOVEL, EXCITING AND INTERESTING.—BOAT-RACE BY FEMALES.—On Tuesday last our quiet town was thrown into considerable excitement by a report that four ladies were to contend in a boat race, for a prize of $25. All unbelieving as we were, we yet followed the crowd to the place designated, the western extremity of the bay. There, true enough, everything was in preparation. The shore was lined with parties of both sexes. The bay was dotted over with every description of boats, large and small. In the midst of all, appeared a him little white boat, in which was seated two ladies, dressed in white, without hats or bonnets, oars in hand, ready and apparently anxious for the contest.—Soon another boat, black, but somewhat larger than the other, launched out from the shore, with two lady rowers, also dressed for the occasion, with black straw hats, arms bare, and as cool and calculating as you please.

After a short row, the two boats were put in position by Mr. Rennie, acting Commodore.

JESSIE.—Mrs. Bishop, Miss McLaughlin,
Master M. TYSON, Cockswain.
——— Miss Patton, Miss McDougall,
Master J. Underwood, Cockswain,

At the signal, the firing of a gun, the boats started. From the start, however, the latter boat, from the steady pull of the two girls, and the easy riding of the boat, was the favorite.—The two in the other boat evidently pulled too quick, and ran too far off the course, and before they got to the buoy, were too far behind to make up. The black boat came in deliberately, some twelve to fifteen lengths ahead.—Colling wood Journal.

A NEW BOOK, WRITTEN BY AN INDIAN.—We are in receipt of a letter from Mr. Jos. N. Bourassa, one of the chiefs of the Pottowatomie Indians. Mr. Bourossa is liberally educated, being a graduate of one of the first institutions of Kentucky. He has recently finished writing a history of his nation, which he proposes to publish this fall. This book will contain some three or four hundred pages, embracing several biographical sketches of the departed chiefs and braves of the nation. It will also contain a small vocabulary of the Pottowatomie language—a fac simile of a relic of the nation, written in the Hebrew language, and also the plate or tree of their religion, which their traditions say was transmitted to them at the time Christ was on earth and gave the Testament to the world. The book will be neatly bound and beautifully illustrated with engravings, portraits, &c. This book will certainly be one of the most interesting and valuable Indian historical publications ever issued by the American press. It will appear some time this fall, and we wish our friend Mr. Bourossa every success. He has labored for years in its compilation, and we trust that in every State in the Union he will be liberally patronized.—Kansas Journal of Commerce.

BURNED TO DEATH.—A shocking accident occurred in this village on Saturday evening last, by which a young girl named Lilia Williamson, aged 15, lost her life. She had filled a fluid lamp, spilling a portion of its contents on the outside. Shortly after lighting it, the lamp exploded, enveloping her dress in flames. The family were absent, only one man being in the house, and he was too much frightened to assist her, and losing all presence of mind herself, she ran it to the street, and thence to the house of a neighbor, where the flames were extinguished, but the poor girl was so much burned that she died yesterday morning, her death furnishing another example of the necessity of care in handling explosive lamps, as well as of the more impressive lesson, that in the midst of life, we are in death.—Manitowoc Tribune.

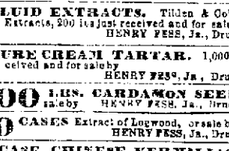
LECTURES ON THE EYE.

STRABISMUS, or Cross Eye, may be defined to be when the visual lines of two eyes, the two eyes, which exists to such an extent that one of them does not move with the other, but is turned away involuntarily to the other side.

It is an affection so apparent as scarcely to require explanation, and is a most unpleasant defect, particularly to young people, and never fails to impair the sight more or less.

It consists essentially of a contraction of one of the six muscles which fix the ball as represented in the cut.



The operation is usually performed by me, in a few seconds, and is always entirely successful, both in relieving the deformity and improving the vision to a great degree.

Operations for Cataract, artificial pupil, &c., scientifically and successfully performed.

French artificial eyes inserted without operation or pain, having the appearance and all the motions of the natural eye.

All the recent discoveries and improvements in the diagnosis and treatment of ocular and aural diseases will be resorted to for the restoration and preservation of the most valuable of the senses, sight and hearing.

The Autocrat of the Breakfast-Table.

EVERY MAN HIS OWN BOWDLER.

The company looked a little flustered one morning when I came in,—so much so, that I inquired of my neighbor, the divinity student, what had been going on. It appears that the young fellow whom they call John, had taken advantage of my being a little late (I having been rather longer than usual dressing that morning, to circulate several questions involving a quibble or play, upon words,—in short, conducing that indignity to the human understanding, condemned in the passages from the distinguished moralist of the last century and the illustrious historian of the present, which I cited on a former occasion, and known as a pun.—After breakfast, one of the boarders handed me a small roll of paper containing some of the questions and their answers. I subjoin two or three of them, to show what a tendency there is to frivolity and meaningless talk in young persons of a certain sort, when not restrained by the presence of more reflective natures. It was asked, "Why tertian and quartan fevers were like certain short-lived insects." Some interesting physiological relation would be naturally suggested. The inquirer blushes to find that the answer is in the paltry equivocation, that they skip a day or two—"Why an Englishman must go to the continent to weaken his grog or punch." The answer proves to have no relation whatever to the temperance movement, as no better reason is given than that island, (or, as it is absurdly written, ile and) water won't mix. But when I came to the next question and its answer, I felt that patience ceased to be a virtue. "Why an onion is like a piano" is a query that a person of sensibility would be slow to propose; but that in an educated community an individual could be found to answer it in these words, "Because it smell odious"—quavi, it's melodious—is not only credible, but too true. I can show you the paper.

Dear reader, I beg your pardon for repeating such things. I know most conversations reported in books are altogether above such rival details, but folly will come up at every tables as sure as purslain chickweed and sorrel will come up in gardens. This young fellow ought to have talked philosophy, I know perfectly well; but he didn't—he made jokes.

I am willing—I said—to exercise your ingenuity in a rational and contemplative manner.—No, I do not proscribe certain forms of philosophical speculation which involve an approach to the absurd or ludicrous, such as you may find, for example, in the folio of the Reverend Father Thomas Sanchez, in his famous tractate, "De Sancto Matrimonio." I will therefore turn this levity of yours to profit by reading you a rhymed problem, wrought out by my friend the Professor:

THE DEACON'S MASTERPIECE.
OR THE WONDERFUL "ONE HOSS-SHAY."
A Logical Story.

Have you heard of the wonderful one-hoss-shay,
That was built in such a logical way
It ran a hundred years to a day,
And then, of sudden, it——ah, but stay,
I'll tell you what happened without delay,
Scaring the parson into fits,
Frightening people out of their wits—
Have you ever heard of that, I say?

Seventeen hundred and fifty-five,
Georgius Secundus was then alive,—
Snuffy old drone of the German hive,
That was the year when Lisbon town
Saw the earth open and gulp her down,
And Braddock's army was done so brown,
Left without a scalp to its crown.
It was on the terrible Earthquake day,
That the Deacon finished the one-hoss-shay.

Now building of chaises, I tell you what,
There is always somewhere a weakest spot—
In hub, tire, felloe, in spring or thill,
In panel, or crossbar, or floor, or sill,
In screw, bolt, thoroughbrace,—lurking still
Find it somewhere you must and will—
Above or below, within or without—
And that's the reason, beyond a doubt,
A chaise breaks down, but doesn't wear out.

But the Deacon swore, (as Deacons do,
With an "I dew vum," or an "I tell yeau,")
He would build one shay to beat the town'
'n' the keounty 'n' all the kentry raoun';
It should be so built that it couldn't break down;
—"Fur," said the Deacon, "'t's mighty plain
That the weakes' place mus' stan' the strain;
'n' the way t' fix it, as I maintain,
Is only jest
To make the place uz strong uz the rest."

So the Deacon enquired of the village folk
Where he could find the strongest oak,
That couldn't be split, nor bent nor broke—
That was for spokes, and floor and sills;
He sent for lancewood to make the thills;
The crossbars were ash, from the straightest trees;
The panels of white-wood, that cuts like cheese,
But lasts like iron for things like these;
The hubs of logs from the "Settler's ellum"—
Last of its timber—they couldn't sell 'em—
Never an axe had seen their chips,
And the wedges flew from between their lips,
Their blunt ends frizzled like celery tips;
Step and prop-iron, bolt and screw,
Spring, tire, axle, and linchpin too,
Steel of the finest, bright and blue;
Thoroughbrace bison-skin, thick and wide;
Boot, top, dasher, from tough old hide,
Found in the pit when the tanner died.
That was the way he "put her through"—
"There," said the Deacon, "naow she'll dew!"

Do! I tell you, I rather guess
She was a wonder, and nothing less!
Colts grew horses, beards turned gray,
Deacon and deaconess dropped away,
Children and grand children—where are they?
But there stood the stout old one-horse-shay
As fresh as on Lisbon-earthquake day.

EIGHTEEN HUNDRED—it came and found
The Deacon's Masterpiece strong and sound.
Eighteen hundred increased by ten—
"Hahnsum kerridge" they called it then.
Eighteen hundred and twenty came;
Running as usual; much the same.
Thirty and forty at last arrive,
And then come fifty, and FIFTY-FIVE.

Little of[all we value here
Wakes on the morn of its hundredth year,
Without both feeling and looking queer.
In fact there's nothing that keeps its youth,
So far as I know, but a tree and truth.
(This is a moral that runs at large;
Take it. You're welcome. No extra charge.)

FIRST OF NOVEMBER—the Earthquake day.
There are traces of age in the one-hoss-shay,
A general flavor of mild decay,
But nothing local, as one may say.
There couldn't be—for the Deacon's art
Had made so like in every part
That there wasn't a chance for one to start.
For the wheels were just as strong as the thills,
And the floor was just as strong as the sills,
And the panels just as strong as the floor,
And the whippletrees neither less nor more,
And the back crossbar as strong as the fore,
And the spring and axle and hub encore.
And yet, as a whole, it is past a doubt
In another hour it will be worn out!

First of November, 'Fifty-five!
This morning the parson takes a drive.
Now, small boys, get out of the way!
Here comes the wonderful one-hoss shay,
Drawn by a rat-tailed, ewe-necked bay.
"Huddup!" said the parson,—off went they.

The parson was working his Sunday's text—
Had got to fifthly, and stopped purplexed,
At what the—Muses—were coming next
All at once the horse stood still,
Close by the meet'n house on the hill.
—First a shiver, then a thrill,
Then something decidedly like a spill—
And the parson was sitting upon a rock,
At half-past nine by the meet'n-house clock—
Just the hour of the Earthquake shock!
—What do you think the parson found,
When he got up and walked around?
The poor old chaise in a heap or mound,
As if it had been to the mill and ground!
You see, of course, if you're not a dunce,
How it went to pieces all at once—
All at once and nothing first—
Just as the bubbles do when they burst.

End of the wonderful one-hoss-shay.
Logic is logic. That's all I say.

* * * * *

Your talking Latin, said I, reminds me of an old trick of one of my old tutors. He read so much of that language, that his English half turned into it. He got caught in town, one hot summer, in pretty close quarters, and wrote, or began to write a series of city pastorals. Ecologues, he called them, and meant to have them published by subscription. I remember some of his verses, if you want to hear them. You, sir, (addressing myself to the divinity-student) and all such as have been through college, or, what is the same thing, received an honorary degree, will understand them without a dictionary. The old man had a great deal to say about "æstivation," as he called it, in opposition, as one might say to hibernation. Intramural æstivation, or town-life in summer, he would say, is a peculiar form of suspended existence, or semi-asphyxia. One wakes up from it about the beginning of the last week in September. This is what I remember of his poem:

ÆSTIVATION.
An unpublished poem by my late Latin Tutor.

In exuberant ire the solar splendor flames,
The fierce, languescent, pearl from arid rames;
The tunnic from the cive, anhelling, wipes,
And dreams of cering on vestiferous pipes

How dulce to vive on mi in mortal eyes,
Dorm on the herb with none to supervise,
Carp the fluvy beetles from the crescent rive,
And bibe the flow from longiscuadate hine!

To me, alas! no verdurous vallons come,
Save you exiguous poet's undervi-scum,—
No concave vast repeats the tender line
That fleates the milk ing vale of Vestial hine!

Me wretched! let me curr to quercine shades!
Efland your albid haunts, bacciferous maids!
Oh, might I vole to some umbrageous clam,—
Depart,—be off,—ovade,—erumpi!

PURE OHIO
Catawba Brandy.
THIS Brandy has been manufactured for several years from the pure juice of the Catawba Grape, thus affording additional evidence, of the progress of American enterprise and industry, and of our ability to produce articles at home, equal to those made by any other nation.
The Ohio Catawba Brandy, not only equals but excels the best imported Brandies, in purity and flavor. It is in fact the best Brandy known. This statement is fully corroborated by the certificates of our most distinguished analytical chemists.
The wanted place brandy has long been felt in this country, and the introduction of an article of such quality as to supersede the sale and use of those vile compounds hitherto called under the name of Brandy, can only be regarded a great public good. The Catawba Brandy comes before the public as a candidate for the best imported liquors, and is of perfect purity and superior flavor, and a sovereign and sure remedy for

NEW FAMILY SEWING MACHINES
Latest Improvement—Watson's Patent.

THE MANUFACTURER and Agent desire to call the attention of the public to this cheap labor saving machine, and to say, since the great improvements which have been added to it, recommend it with the utmost confidence, as it has been in operation in this city a sufficient length of time to prove its utility. These machines are made strong and durable, and with one-fourth part of the care required to manage a higher priced machine. They will do as much work, and as well as the most expensive. Each machine is thoroughly tested before it is sold, and warranted to give satisfaction, if the instructions are followed with even an ordinary amount of care, and will be kept in order one year free of charge.

Price of improved machine complete, (including stand,) $25. Persons wishing to purchase a machine are invited to bring their work with them and test the machine to their perfect satisfaction, before purchasing.
